Ann and Nancy Wilson (HEART)

Rock & Roll Hall of Fame inductees Ann and Nancy Wilson stormed the charts in the '70's with hits like "Crazy on You," "Magic Man," "Barracuda," "Straight On," and so many more. The Wilson sisters proved that women could lead a band, write the songs and play the instruments too, making them the first women in rock to do so. Heart continued topping the charts through the '80's and '90's with huge hits like "These Dreams," "Alone," "What About Love," "If Looks Could Kill," "Never," and a string of other hits that showcased the sisters' enormous talents as musicians, singers and songwriters. This new millennium showed them back in the charts again, with top charting albums "Red Velvet Car" and "Fanatic."

Along the way, Heart has sold more than 35 million albums, sold out arenas worldwide, and become an important part of the soundtrack of American life through radio, motion pictures, television, and associations with branded sponsors. Today, songs made famous by Heart are heard in every aspect of contemporary culture, and performed live in front of hundreds of thousands of fans annually.
