

DISCOVER YOUR FUTURE

Santa Clara offers a promising future for both today's residents and future generations. In 2017 it was named an "Age Friendly City" by the World Health Organization in recognition of its public policies and programs to assist older adults and it was rated the 33rd best place in America to buy a "forever" home in an analysis of 509 cities.

City leaders are constantly looking at how to protect the outstanding quality of life of Santa Clara in the future. Last year, an Affordable Housing Working Group made recommendations to the City Council on how to expand affordable housing opportunities and an infrastructure analysis graded the City's assets as the first step in developing a long range plan of improvements needed and potential funding sources.

The community is encouraged to participate in public discussions about decisions that will impact the future, including special "placemaking" meetings that focused on both specific developments and general visioning for the downtown and the City as a whole.

The Hospitality Management program at Mission College is the first step for many in achieving the career of their dreams.
