DISCOVER OUTDOORS

Santa Clara's temperate climate and 300+ days of sunshine a year encourage residents to enjoy outdoors. A high priority for the City is providing a variety of safe and appealing places where residents can pursue a healthy lifestyle and fun outdoor activities.

A new playground at Steve Carli Park was opened in 2017 and it is designated a national "best practice" example of innovative design that encourages children of all capabilities to play. More playground upgrades are coming for Montague, Homeridge, Machado, Bowers, Fuller Street and Agnew Parks. Groundbreaking took place in 2017 for the new Reed & Grant Streets Sports Park that will include five lighted soccer fields and other amenities.

The City carefully maintains the San Tomas Aquino Creek Trail, a popular venue for people who want to walk, skate or bicycle to work or for fun. Pedestrian safety increased in 2017 with the addition of four new crosswalk beacons on El Camino Real. An additional six beacons will be installed at key intersections.

As a nationally recognized Bicycle Friendly City, Santa Clara supports residents who opt to Bike to Work.
