I don't get why just 2 districts. If you are going to divide the city into districts, why not one district per councilperson? What does just 2 get you that just 1 didn't?

I don't understand the intent or purpose of this change so I am leery about the proposal as a whole.

I don't like the approach of "Which would you like solution A or B?" with no context about what problem is being solved or if we should be making this change at all.

It is ludicrous to divide the city into two districts. It accomplishes nothing except a very minor bit of window dressing.

Two districts is worse than no districting at all since it provides a false sense of accomplishment. Or provides cover depending on your motive.

Six districts would make sense. Not to change the color or ethnicity of our council necessarily, but to make it easier and cheaper to run for office.
