PARKS & RECREATION DEPARTMENT

PUBLIC NOTICE

SECOND COMMUNITY MEETING
COMMUNITY RECREATION CENTER-
INTERNATIONAL SWIM CENTER

The Parks & Recreation Department invites you to attend its second Community Meeting regarding the proposed Central Park Community Recreation Center/International Swim Center. Hear updates in response to public comments received at the first community meeting, and view the latest concept plans.

In 2013, the Santa Clara City Council adopted a two-year goal to enhance the community's sport and recreational assets, including a feasibility study of the George F. Haines International Swim Center. In 2014, the City Council contracted with ELS Architecture and Urban Design to lead the community outreach, schematic design, business plan and environmental review phase. On January 22, 2015 the City hosted a community meeting for residents to learn more and to provide a forum for public comments and questions. The Central Park plan brings the deteriorating International Swim Center (ISC) and outdated Community Recreation Center (CRC) together to offer a full range of community recreation and activity spaces, including performing & cultural arts (dance, music, ceramics, theater, rehearsal), indoor gymnasium and exercise studios, fitness course, early childhood enrichment, afterschool programs and therapeutic spaces, special event space and specialized recreation and community classes. The facility returns a world-class aquatics venue to Santa Clara, featuring new water/pools including a fun-water recreation pool, a 50-meter training/recreational pool, a 50-meter competition pool, and a performance diving tank with competition-regulation platforms. The facility also envisions inclusion of the International Swimming Hall of Fame.
