MANAGING EXPENSES IN TIGHT MONTHS

Tuesday, May 5th
10 AM

Join Habitat for Humanities Financial Education Expert for a 30-minute presentation that reviews money management strategies that can help you keep up with expenses and bills, even during challenging times when there is a loss in income or an emergency expense. If you cannot make the May 5th session, there is another session on May 7th @ 2pm. Registration required.

HOW TO TALK TO CHILDREN & TEENS ABOUT S-E-X

Tuesday, May 5th
7 PM

Learn from our Parent Educator on how to navigate through these uncomfortable subjects with your child/tween. It is noted that parents who have good discussions about sex with their children/tweens/teens often delay sexual activity, have fewer partners, and use contraceptives when they do have sex. We want to help you get the conversation started on the right path. For Adults ONLY. Eventbrite registration is required.

LEARN ABOUT LIGHT WITH KAST

Creative Writing Workshop: Evocative Imagery.

In this week's creative writing web series video, we're going to be talking about evocative imagery and how your senses can help create depth in your writing! We'll follow that up with an exercise that will help connect emotional states of being with images and how to apply backstory to strengthen your work. Connecting images with emotional states can help to create a richer understanding of your writing for both yourself and your readers! So dust off your writer's journals and let's jump in! Also feel free to go back and check out last week's video which covered poem sketching. It can be a great way to start generating ideas that can be integrated with this week's exercise!
